Occupation and volunteer position: Director of Columbia CaseWorks at Columbia Business School; president of Ridgewood Education Foundation.

Age: Stopped counting a while ago.

How long I have lived in Ridgewood: Eight years (longest we have lived anywhere since we married!)

Interests and hobbies: Education, supporting teaching and learning at Columbia through developing teaching cases and, in our local schools, through the Ridgewood Education Foundation.

My favorite place to relax in Ridgewood: In my backyard by the pool in summer.

A "perfect day" in Ridgewood would include: Walking into town for coffee with a friend, working in the garden, swimming in the pool, and a barbecue with friends and family.

The best-kept secret in the village: The Ridgewood Education Foundation and the support it provides for enrichment for students.

The best thing about Ridgewood: While it is a small town, it has the feel of a more sophisticated city.

One thing I would like to change in the village: Raise the profile of the Ridgewood Education Foundation. Many districts fund exciting initiatives through local education foundations.

The best part of my job: Seeing the impact on students from foundation grants, and of the teaching cases my group has developed at Columbia.
